Teachers protest 79-80 salary schedules

North Bay teachers take new contracts 'under advisement'

Administrator raises cited as 'exorbitant increases'

By EDGAR PEREZ

In an unprecedented move this week, 24 of 28 North Bay Elementary School teachers declined to sign contracts Tuesday for the 1979-1980 school year.

Departing from the traditionally routine signing of the contracts when presented by Superintendent J.D. McCullough at a North Bay faculty meeting Tuesday, the teachers asked, instead, to take the contracts home for study.

Four teachers at the school signed contracts Tuesday. The others have 10 days from date of receipt to sign the contracts under state law.

The refusal to routinely sign contracts by the teachers was taken in support of some 25 or 30 experienced teachers in the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District who feel they are being short-changed under a new salary schedule adopted by the district's board of trustees at a special meeting Friday.

Twenty of those teachers with ten or more years experience gathered at a special meeting of the Bay St. Louis local of the Mississippi Association of Educators Tuesday night at Christ Episcopal Church's Virginia Hall to map strategy in an effort to convince school board members they have voted an "injustice" on the affected teachers.

The MAE teachers received commitments Tuesday night from Board President Virginia Gex and Board Member Betty Diboll to attend another meeting Wednesday night at Virginia Hall.

President Elect Judy Barrett of the MAE said Board members Walter Turcotte and Maurice Singleton would also be asked to attend the meeting so the teachers could explain their position on the matter.

Teachers are prohibited from discussing salary at regular board meetings by the board's controversial Policy 18.

Also slated to appear at last night's meeting was State Representative J.P. Compretta and possibly State Senator Martin Smith.

"The school board's action in approving these salary schedules frustrates the intent of the State Legislature when it approved raises especially for experienced teachers," said Burt Barrett, MAE regional field representative for South Mississippi.

Board Member James Ginn has been out of the city on vacation and was not present when the board approved the new salary schedule Friday.

In addition to being unfair to experienced teachers, Barrett said the new pay plan "...is not in line with other school systems on the coast...and doesn't even begin to compare with places like Pass Christian where local increments up to $3,000 are paid."

Gunshot wounds Bay man

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Edward Joseph Jr., 39, apparently shot himself in the chest with a .38-caliber revolver in the rear of his lounge, The Pheasant, on Sycamore Street Tuesday morning, police report.

Joseph, a native of New Orleans who now resides in Bay St. Louis, was "in stable condition and recovering from surgery," reported a spokesman for Gulfport Memorial Hospital Wednesday.

He was transported to the Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis at approximately 9 a.m., shortly after the shooting, and was later transferred to Gulfport Memorial Hospital for treatment.

"Joseph apparently called the Bay St. Louis Fire Department and reported his own shooting," said Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams said.

"He supposedly told the operator at the fire department, 'I think I've shot myself,'" Williams stated.

A spokesman for the fire department said the shooting victim called Mobile Medic and Mobile Medic notified the department.

Joseph was shot in the lower chest, stated Williams.

"Who did this to you," Williams asked the injured man as emergency technicians and a fireman at the scene of the incident attempted to prevent further bleeding.

The chief reported Joseph responded, "I think I shot myself."

"He did not say he did, but that is what he thinks he did," Williams explained.

Williams stated, "The wound appears to be self-inflicted."

Hancock County Sheriff's Deputy Ronnie Peterson agreed with Williams saying, "There were great amounts of powder burns around the wound which indicates it may have been self-inflicted."

Williams said there was no money stolen and there appeared to be no signs of forcible entry at the lounge.

"These indications also tend to make us believe the wound was apparently self-inflicted," the police chief added.

The investigation is still pending, police reported.

Eight injured in 603 mishap

By RICH ADAMS

Eight persons were injured as three vehicles collided on Hwy. 603 four miles north of Waveland last week, according to the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

The pile-up occurred at 4:05 p.m. Sunday near Leggett Road, the result of one vehicle following another too closely, a Highway Patrol spokesman said.

Charles Stewart, 21, of Picayune, driver of one of the vehicles, was charged with following too close, the policeman added.

Drivers in the other vehicles were Andy Moran, 30, Rt. 3, Bay St. Louis and John Lauthette, 65, New Orleans.

Separate School Board Friday.

He also objected to the board conducting an unannounced 2 p.m. special meeting at which teachers' salaries were discussed without teacher representation present.

At the meeting the board, upon recommendation by Superintendent J.D. McCullough, approved some $25,000 in wage increases for teachers, coaches, and administrators.

The board increased a local teaching supplement from $700 to $800 a year, but Wilkinson said that change will cost some teachers with 12 years of experience to lose money.

In the past, the supplement was increased $200 for 'A' certified teachers with 12 or more years of teaching experience to make up a $200 deficit from state funds in teacher's salaries.

The $200 is an annual increment of pay increase from the state for each year of teaching experience.

In the past, the local supplement was increased $200 in the 12th year of teaching because the state did not allow that amount for teacher's regular salary.

Under the new salary scale, the teachers will receive the same $300 throughout their career, thus losing the $200 supplementary raise at the conclusion of 12 years' experience,

Former school bond issue opponent proposes $4.2 million improvements

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

An approximate $4.2 million capital improvements bond issue may go before the Hancock County School District electorate in June if a plan submitted by a former bond issue opponent is supported by the school system's administration.

Wayne Peterson, a Nacole Crossing resident and outspoken opponent of past bond issues, proposed the Hancock County School District Board call a bond issue to construct two junior-senior high schools—one south of I-10, as proposed in past bond issues, and one north of the interstate. "I think this proposal," Peterson will give both the north and south something they can live with."

Peterson's plan also calls for the Hancock North Central Attendance Center to be converted into an elementary school and a special education center.

School District Superintendent Terrell Randolph says Peterson's plan would cost approximately $4.2 million.

The school board's advisory committee last week recommended a separate elementary school and a new junior-senior high school be constructed to correct deficiencies in the school system.

Also the school board had announced it would spend approximately $300,000 to construct a special education center for the handicapped, which becomes unnecessary under Peterson's plan.

Randolph said regardless of whether the school board supports the committee's or Peterson's plan, "a bond issue should probably surface in June."

He said June was tentatively chosen for the election, because the board wants to do something about problems cited in the school system by the accreditation commission, before the commission reviews the school's status on June 30.

Peterson said he submitted this plan because, "There is the possibility of losing accreditation, kids having to travel many miles and overcrowding."

The school board had also brought attention to these problems, listed by Peterson when the board sought passage of past bond issues.

Board President Woodrow Lader

called Peterson's plan "...a good proposal and very feasible." Randolph called it "a sensible proposal."

The Board said it would recommend Peterson's proposal to the advisory committee for consideration.

Mike Gemell, a mathematics teacher at Hancock North Central, told the board, "I think the kids are making the best of an unfavorable situation."

He agreed with the board that lack of facilities is the major problem in the school system.

CLOSING

The still cool, beautiful twilights of May always bring reveries of days long gone by.

With the sweet smell of Spring now in the air, sweet memories of childhood flood our minds and bring a slow tear of sadness as the familiar scenes once again roll by.

Old friends, some gone now, running and flitting like young spring colts at their play. Could it have really been that long?

A familiar young voice calling from an open window where those oh-so-good smells emit from.

The golden hair and bright blue eyes with the sweetest smile this side of heaven greeting you, maybe tussling your hair, with the never-forgotten "go wash before supper," and the sweet warm kiss of mother on your forehead, as she tucked you in.

We never seemed to notice when the golden hair turned to snow, or when did the bright blue of the eyes begin to fade?

Then once again it's May and Mother's Day, but the beautiful memory has never faded of the most important thing, the "Special tender Love" of Mother.

So again I smile and head for the house, because now once again I hear a sweet voice calling.

A Mother, calling her family. No nothing changes but time, for the voice I hear now is my children's Mother, on this Mother's Day.

Marina operator choice pending

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

Hancock County Board of Supervisors have taken under advisement, until May 21, a Port and Harbor Commission recommendation to accept Gulf Fishermen's bid to operate the Bayou Cadet Marina.

Beat Five Supervisor James Travica, at the Board's meeting Monday, moved the matter be taken under advisement until Walter Gex, board attorney, determines if the organization can legally enter into a contract with the county.

The motion was seconded by Beat Four Supervisor Sam Pernicaro and unanimously approved.

The Board plans to act on the matter May 21, its next meeting.

"I'm leery of whether the organization is a legal entity since it has not met in four years," Travica said.

Gex said he will get an opinion from the Attorney General's office as to whether Gulf Fishermen Inc. can legally make a bid.

Gex noted the Board should not get involved in legal decisions. He suggested the Board let the courts determine the legality of bids.

"We would be fighting a battle that we have no business fighting," Gex said, "if the Board would constantly determine legal issues at these meetings."

"Let the people who want to fight the fishermen's bid fight it next door (in the county courtroom)," Gex insisted.

In addition, Gex described the Bayou Cadet Marina as a "...a thorn for everyone who tried to run it, a salt-water mosquito breeding area."

Thomas Holzhauser, president of Gulf Fishermen Inc., reminded Supervisors his organization feels an individual can not best represent the fishermen at Bayou Cadet.

"An individual will use fishermen to make profits for his business," Holzhauser declared.

Holzhauser added, "The fishermen would rather manage their own business."

The organization president stressed Gulf Fishermen does not want the restaurant, "...and the Board can give it to anyone it wants."

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner complained, "No one does any work to help the fishermen until 30 days prior to the shrimping season opening."

Commission Director Wilson Webre replied, "We started on the Bayou Cadet project four years ago. The Commission is way out front in alleviating the docking problem out there."

"There are 12 or 15 slips for boats that can be tied up safely at Bayou Cadet and four large vessels take up that space, and there is supposed to be an opening, so that leaves actually two legal spaces," Webre continued.

Webre said lack of proper docking facilities is the major problem at the site.

"It's ridiculous that fishermen do not have a place to tie up a boat in the year 1979," he exclaimed.

"We have not yet received the $500,000 to $750,000 we need for the project, but we will get the money," Webre vowed.

In other business the Board:

—Approved W.A. McDonald and Sons' bid of $2,993 for supplying building materials for construction at the Hancock County Fairgrounds.

—Approved a bid from Jeeps Plumbing and Heating of Bay St. Louis of $3,899 to install plumbing at the Hancock County Fairgrounds.

—Sanctioned Mississippi House of Representatives Bill 1039 which authorizes counties and municipalities 1) to apply for, receive and expend federal funds for relocation of railroad lines, and 2) to amend Section 17-12-7, Mississippi Code of 1972, authorizing local government units to act jointly for the purpose of relocating railroad lines. —Appointed Donn Murray to serve on the Railroad Relocation Authority committee which handles related provisions of Bill 1039.

Commended the Hancock County Vocational Technical school for constructing 30 voting boxes for $175, a savings of $1,625 under the cost estimated by a manufacturer.

—Recommended a spokesman, representing 52 persons from Silver Creek Acres subdivision, consult an attorney to determine whether a street adjacent to the subdivision can be opened and maintained by Hancock County.

—Approved a topographic map to be made of the Port Bienville Industrial complex at a cost of $1,635 in order to provide engineering data for Port and Harbor Commission projects.

Youth Court hears obscene calls case

Two Bay St. Louis juveniles were found guilty in the April term of Hancock County Youth Court of making a series of obscene phone calls.

The calls were made during January and February, and disposition of the case was set for May 16th.

In another case, two Hancock County youths pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering and burglary of the Bay-Waveland Clinic. They were ordered to pay restitution to the victim and the two were placed on indefinite probation.

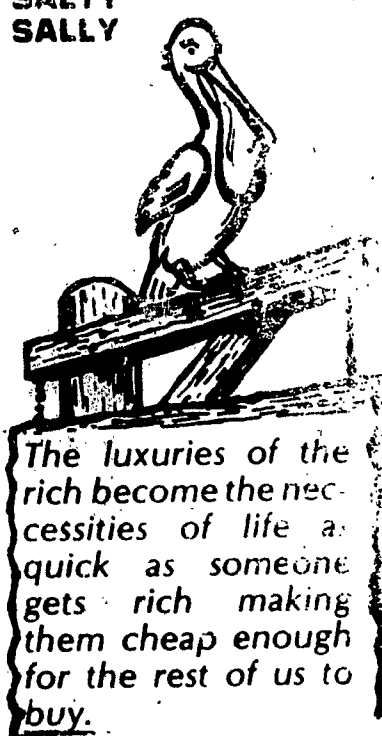

A total of twenty-five cases were docketed for hearing during the regular term of court in April. In addition to this, ten emergency hearings were held during the month.

A breakdown of the April docket includes: Five cases of neglect and/or abuse; two obscene phone calls; one Contracts.....

experienced, AAA teachers."

"You can either do nothing, sign your contracts and hope for better treatment next year," Barrett urged, "or you can take positive steps to correct these inequities now."

He outlined a series of moves open to the teachers:

"1.—Do not sign your contracts."

"2.—Someone from this organization should be on the agenda of the board's meeting Monday night with these figures." (Mr. and Mrs. Barrett presented elaborate charts showing experienced teachers will lose an average of $225 under the new pay plan.)

"3.—Meet with board members prior to Monday night's regular board meeting."

"4.—Contact the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to explore the possibility the pay plan constitutes discrimination against the system's experienced teachers."

Teachers attending the Tuesday faculty meeting at North Bay said they were told by the superintendent the pay plan could not be revised unless he recommends such action to the board, "and he told us he has no intention of making such a recommendation."

Exorbitant

Wilkinson contends.

He also referred to some administrator's raises as "exorbitant," claiming the wage hikes are above a recommended seven percent increase.

Wilkinson pointed out the junior high school principal's salary increased $3,512 which hikes his salary to $22,757 a year.

The AFT representative said the raise is an 18 percent increase.

Wilkinson also claims a 19 percent increase of the assistant junior high school principal's salary of $3,183 to a yearly earning of $19,838 is unfair.

"How can the board justify these exorbitant increases when the teachers were carefully limited to a seven percent increase," Wilkinson said.

The union president also objected to the "early afternoon meeting time, which he contends was planned to remove all teacher participation in the salary talks.

"This 2 p.m. meeting time is for the birds," Wilkinson said.

"How can teachers be expected to be able to attend a meeting when they are teaching classes," he added.

McCullough told the board Friday he needed the salary scale approved because teachers are preparing to sign teaching contracts for the 1979-1980 school year prior to the summer months.

Reports received at the Echo this week indicate, however, that teachers

"I bring up Policy 18 just so you'll be aware of it, but that shouldn't stop you from trying to go before the board about salary," Barrett explained.

"We were told we have 10 days to sign our contracts, or the administration will move to hire people to fill our jobs," reported Nell Woodall, North Bay teacher.

"We're fighting the principle of this thing, not the man," Ms. Woodall said of her refusal to sign her contract. "It doesn't matter who the administrators are, right is right and we feel it's time to stand up for our rights," she added.

may refuse to sign contracts until a different pay scale is adopted by the board.

A regular meeting of the board is slated for 7:30 p.m. Monday.

In Sunday's edition of the Sea Coast Echo, a typographical error showed the Waveland Elementary School principal's salary being approved for 1 month of work, and increase of $1,334 to $19,838.

The correct figures should read a salary for 11 months of employment with $1,334 for a total of $18,000.

The echo regrets this error.

603 Mishap.....

All drivers in the mishap were injured.

Injured passengers in the Moran truck were Mark Farrell, 14; Christopher Smith, 13; and Shannon Smith, 9, all of Rt. 2, Perkinston.

Jeff Gray, 20, of Playune, was injured as he rode in the Stewart vehicle.

Also injured in the Lauffhutte car was Verna Lauffhutte, 60, of New Orleans.

All of the injured were taken to Hancock General Hospital by Mobile Medic and four of those later transferred to Gulfport Memorial Hospital.

A spokesman at Gulfport Memorial Wednesday said Verna Lauffhutte is hospitalized in intensive care with a head injury and broken foot.

The spokesman said Lauffhutte's condition is "stable."

The official said Christopher and Shannon Smith were admitted to Gulfport Memorial for observation and have been released.

She added that Moran was taken to the hospital for an examination, but was not admitted.

The remaining injured were treated at Hancock General Hospital. John Lauffhutte being admitted for observation.

Lauffhutte has since been discharged from the hospital, a spokesman said.

Highway Patrolman Earl Cox is investigating officer in the mishap. The Hancock County Sheriff's Department assisted in the investigation.

Urges abolition of fee system

May 9, 1979

Editor

Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

According to reports filed with the Secretary of State, Hancock County Justice Court Judges were paid $154,219 in 1978 for the disposition of state cases, as follows:

District 1, $29,659; District 2, $50,188; District 3, $47,484; District 4, $25,412; District 5, $1,484; Total, $154,219.

Civil cases amounted to only $465, which is insignificant unless you are a plaintiff trying to collect an honest debt.

Better than 90 percent of the fees paid for criminal cases were as a result of tickets given by the Mississippi Highway Safety Patrol on I-10 for speeding and miscellaneous charges.

You do not have to be "about crazy" to recognize that the Highway Patrol can control the pocketbook of a Justice Court Judge to a large degree, simply by referring or not referring tickets to a particular judge.

The record is very clear. In 1975 two judges got over 90 percent of the tickets.

Now, four judges share 99 percent of the tickets, which may indicate progress.

One of our judges in District three has only 1.1 miles of I-10 at the eastern edge of the County, yet he has received as many as 800 tickets in one month alone.

That converts to a gross of $8000 per month on our fee system.

Hancock County could operate very efficiently on a $75,000 budget with two salaried full-time judges, a clerk, and one bookkeeper.

Fines could be paid by mail or in person at the Courthouse. Disputed cases could be heard at weekly terms of court. The Sheriff's office would handle civil summons.

Tickets would be delivered to the Clerk by the Highway Patrol and the sheriff's office at the Courthouse. Fines would be paid to the County through the Clerk's office.

We should seriously consider and take action on the recommendations of the Mississippi Economic Council:

1. Abolish the fee system for all county officials.

2. Abolish the office of constable.

3. Amend the State Constitution to permit the Legislature to revise Justice Courts or establish small claims or similar courts and prescribe the jurisdiction of the courts and set qualifications for judicial officers.

The Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir:

I would like to congratulate you on your coverage of the last "special meeting" of the Bay St. Louis School Board on Friday, May 4 at 2:00 p.m. at which the expenditure of our tax dollars was discussed.

This is, to my recollection, the second or third such "special" meeting of this kind which we citizens learned about "after the fact."

According to the Mississippi Code, Section 25-41-13, on Notice of Special Meetings, any public body must enter upon the minutes of their regular meetings the time and place of future recess, interim, or special meetings.

The Board's failure to announce this "special" meeting at its last regular meeting, it seems to me, constitutes an absolute violation of the law.

If the administration and trustees are ignorant of the law in this instance, the Board Attorney should earn his pay (taxpayer's dollars) and advise his clients for their own benefit.

If I sound angry, it's because I am. The last special meeting was held at 2:00 p.m., not a time when interested citizens (not to mention teachers) could attend.

When it takes both mother and father to work in order to pay the taxes that furnish the salaries and more-than-ample pay raises to the administration (not the teachers) that were decided upon, 2 p.m. was a ridiculous time for a public body to hold a meeting on the spending of our money.

The more-than-ample raises I speak of are, for one example: according to the Echo's news story, the junior high principal is receiving a raise next year in excess of 18 percent!

What has happened to President Carter's seven percent guideline?

The rest of us have to abide by it. How can we citizens on seven percent increase afford to give him 18 percent?

Thank you for bringing these matters to light in your newspaper and for allowing me this space to respond.

Thank you,
Earl Lizana

Hwy. 603 needs safety marking

Editor

Sea Coast Echo

Dear Sir,

I was just driving back to Waveland from the I-10 interstate highway on Highway 603 thinking to myself, "So this is the road that always has so many accidents and deaths."

Just then, two police cars came speeding by in the opposite direction.

It was then I noticed that the road was not marked with "no passing" lines before curves ahead.

Also, there were no signs indicating curves.

The only place where the road was marked was just before the one bridge and the curve just before you reach Highway 90.

All markings on the road are very light and after a rain when it is dark, I'm sure they would not be seen at all.

I think it is very important that these curves should be marked.

It could save lives.

So whoever has charge of this, please "get busy" before someone else is killed.

Scouting's Cypress District gets new executive director

By ELLIS CUEVAS

James D. Groce has been appointed executive director for the Cypress District, Boy Scouts of America.

The Cypress District includes Hancock County and eastern St. Tammany Parish. Groce stated, "I will be working with Community leaders in organizing a strong Cypress District in Scouting."

A New Orleans native and a Life Scout, Groce has been involved in the volunteer ranks of Scouting over ten years with experience in several councils.

Recently, he served in the Plantation District as Pack Committeeman, Post Committeeman, Unit Commissioner, and Chairman of the Membership Committee.

His previous professional work background includes marketing management and management consulting positions with a national firm in New Orleans, Raleigh, Dallas and Hartford. He also served three years in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Groce is married to the former Kelly Morrill of Denver, and they have three children.

He plans a campaign of making scouting available to all of the youth of the District.

On his visit to Bay St. Louis Groce said, "I plan on meeting as many community leaders in the near future as possible to explain the functions of Scouting, to try and build up Scouting activities."

three groups, according to Groce—Cubs ages eight to 10, Boy Scouts ages 11 to 18 and Explorer Scouts which now is coed ages 14 to 21.

Groce holds a Certificate in Commerce from Tulane University and a Bachelor of Science Degree and Master of Social Work Degree from L.S.U. He has served as a consultant to the Council for Youth, Inc. in Tangipahoa Parish and the Lafourche Parish Juvenile Justice Commission.

William E. Pratt, who Groce replaces, has transferred to the Fort Worth Area of Scouts.

Bay Little Leaguers conduct fund-raiser

The Little League of Bay St. Louis is currently engaged in a new program called "The Buddy System," a new method of fund-raising designed specifically for youth sports.

Acting as a "buddy team," each league player and his parents will ask neighbors and community members to "be their buddy" and support youth sports by purchasing practical, inexpensive items that the whole family can enjoy.

According to Donn Murray, league director, all profits from "Be A Buddy Week" will help the teams buy equipment.

"There will be no high-pressure sales," he added, "because the products are appealing and useful. The players and coaches just want to make the community aware of the league's activities and to ask for its support," Murray stated.

The little league players will be presenting a 12-week introductory subscription offer to The Sporting News.

For the ladies, team members will be offering "Li'l Buddies" stationery, a set of 20 cards and 20 envelopes.

League members will also be selling a yo-yo that looks like a baseball.

All items will be available separately, but an $11 family package will bring $4.25 in profits to the teams.

Little League players are asking for support during the week of May 5-May 12.

Delinquent Bay utility customers face shutoff

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Bay St. Louis City Council was unanimous in adopting a resolution Tuesday to cut off on July 15 all utility customers who are 30 days or more delinquent after billing date.

A notice is to be printed on all utility bills warning of the impending cutoff if delinquent.

A big concern of the Council was the fact that many transients move into town and run up a bill and leave owing the City.

Notice would be attached to a meter and the door of the residence scheduled to be cut-off before the final action will be taken.

A customer will be given an opportunity to appear before the Council to state his case.

Council showed concern over the hardship cases in their lengthy discussion. One Council member said, "It would be hard to cut off the little old lady who was struggling to pay her bill, while some are not paying and not making any effort to do so."

In other business, Council reappointed Bill Tate to the Zoning and Planning Commission and named new member Ann Williamson to fill the unexpired term of Jay Triche.

Mayor Larry Bennett made the recommendations which received full approval. Council requested the mayor to write a letter of appreciation to Triche for his services to the City as a Zoning and Planning member.

Council selected Mayor Bennett to be a representative of Bay St. Louis on the Coast Railroad Committee, with someone commenting, "Since he is such a friend of the railroad."

A representative from each municipality and County along the Coast serves on this Committee, according to Mayor Bennett.

The lone bidder on the roof at the Valena C. Jones Complex was Dillmann, Inc., of Bay St. Louis. Council, as customary, took the bid under advisement.

Council recognized the Bay St. Louis Soccer Team which placed fourth in State for under 12 years old. The team went undefeated in Mississippi Gulf Coast Soccer league.

Two bids of six percent were received by the Council on the $41,871 loan for the purchase of school buses. Both Merchants Bank and Gulf National bid on the money.

Council selected Merchants since it is the Bank of record for the Bay.

Several residents appeared before the Council requesting sewer service in areas where utilities are not available. Council told the group they didn't know what they could do at this time.

Council President James Thrifflay said, "The only sewerage we have installed (since in office) was paid for by grants and Small Cities Programs."

He did mention that the Council was looking into a Farmers Home Administration Loan to cover all the areas of the City without the services.

Joe Brown Jr. of Joe Brown Engineers, Inc. reported the Bouslog Project was 100 percent complete and Council agreed to make an on site inspection late Wednesday evening.

Brown said the contract total monies used was $100,031 and the grant was $100,073. Payment of the contractor was discussed and Council wanted to make their inspection and bring up payment schedule at their next regular meeting on May 22.

A discussion was held about surveying needed by the Small Cities Project on the Washington Street area. Brown was asked to give an estimate on the cost of the survey.

Joseph Gex, board attorney, told the Council the property in the area is rather complex because a couple of the lots are about 3,000 feet long, and the area easements required are in the middle of them.

Council authorized the City, with the help of Donn Murray, to repair three more probable sewer breaks on Booker, deMontluzin and Ballentine Streets.

The Seminary Drive was declared an emergency after recent rains destroyed the street. Council authorized $800 for the repair of the Street.

Council authorized Kelly McQueen, city clerk, to send out letters to certified public accounting firms requesting them to make a presentation to the Council in June if they are interested in doing the City's audit.

God-given streams, wells often taken for granted

By S. GRADY THINGPEN
Unlimited quantities of pure soft water is one of the biggest assets, if not the very biggest, we have in this section of the country.

Most of us here do not appreciate this fact since we have never had to conserve and scrimp on the use of water as people have to do in many places.

Because it is so plentiful here it is hard for us to understand the great hardships suffered in some sections where water is scarce.

Dorothy Hobson wrote a verse entitled "Comprehension," which I quote: "None except those who walk in night

Learn the significance of light,

As only they do thirst can savor
Clear water's delicate fresh flavor;

And youth is known but to the old.

Only those lost in arctic cold sense fire's full meaning; and those only
Can know what love is, who are lonely.

Our great abundance of water comes from the greatest rainfall (with two exceptions) in the whole United States, from ever running clear sandy bottom streams, from free flowing springs, and from artesian and shallow wells.

S. W. Green, former director of the McNeill Experiment Station for many years is authority for the statement that the weather station there showed the greatest rainfall over 23 years from 1905 to 1929 of any other station in the USA except off Puget Sound on the Pacific Coast.

Green said further:

"Total annual rainfall is very important for all growing crops, including tree crops.

"However, the equal distribution through all the 12 months is most important for grazing and long growing crops, and Mississippi is particularly fortunate on this monthly distribution throughout the years.

"The low months are October and November but these months show about 4 inches each.

"The average rainfall over a 23-year period at McNeill was 63.11 inches with an average per month of 5.26 inches. The biggest average for any one month was 7.34 inches for July and the lowest was 3.26 inches for November.

"Absolute extremes of temperatures at McNeill over the same 23-year period were recorded as follows:

Maximum 103 degrees F. in 1909, 1924, 1926 and 1927; minimum 12 degrees in 1924.

We have the most equable climate in the United States; right here, no extremes of heat or cold.

"Many winters we have gone through the whole winter with temperature low of 22 to 25 degrees F., while in the summer it is rare that we have higher than 93 to 95 degrees F.

"Over this same 23 year period the average maximum temperature was 88 degrees F. while the average minimum was 43 degrees F."

I read sometime back of one area where water was so scarce and hard to get that one woman walked over a mile and carried on her back every day the water necessary for the existence of her family.

Water here is easy to get from ever running streams from shallow well pumps, deep well pumps, ever running springs, and from artesian wells.

We are most fortunate.

Yes, high important among our many blessings in this section is the unlimited quantity of pure soft water.

In many parts of the country, streams are muddy and unattractive, water is difficult to get, while here we have unlimited quantities of the purest soft water on earth.

Many who live here do not really appreciate the great asset we have in our water.

I have often stopped and walked along the banks of these clear, ever running white, sand bottom streams. They flow along peacefully, contentedly, crystal clear in their jewel like, sand-paved beds, blessing all who come to them, man and animal alike.

The forest blends above these winding ribbons of water, forming a living arch of green to keep these streams cool and inviting.

It has on numerous occasions been my privilege to drive around over this section with visitors from other places. Many times I have seen these visitors exclaim and marvel at the beauty of these small streams, like the Hobolochitto, Catahoula and others.

Once in driving north of Piquette, a man from California had me stop the car on the bridge over the Hobolochitto.

He was enthused over the beauty of this stream. He asked how many months a year it was dry and if there were fish in it.

When told that it never ran dry but always carried a good volume of water and that fish abounded in it all the time, it was almost incredible to him as the streams where he came from are dry a big part of the time.

He said to me, "If you could move that stream to California, it would bring millions of dollars."

Streams like this are common place here but we pay little attention to them. Often we do not appreciate the common place things about us, though many of them are gems of great value.

County Agent's Notes

by John Smith

By JOHN W. SMITH

If you need a high energy forage for grazing or a high tonnage hay crop, you should consider planting a millet or sorghum-sudan hybrid in early May.

Summer temporary grazing is a must for high producing dairy cows, regardless of how good the summer permanent pasture. These crops can be used for yearling cattle being carried into or over the summer.

Where permanent pastures are limited, control grazing beef brood cows, giving calves full-time access, is successfully used by some producers.

To achieve the maximum grazing three plantings will be needed. Select fields convenient to cattle so grazing can be controlled. Make first planting as soon as possible, the second in late May and third in June.

Plantings made in mid-summer often produce poorly and insects are always a problem. For a dairy cow, plant at least one acre in three plantings where control grazing is practical and some permanent pasture is available.

The sorghum-sudan hybrids will produce the highest tonnage per acre but requires good grazing management to utilize the forage when it is of highest quality.

The sorghum-sudan hybrids are very sensitive to acid soils but produce better on the heavier textured soils.

The hybrid millet varieties produce less tonnage per acre (about the same on very sandy soils) but the forage is leafier and of higher quality. Millet is suggested for grazing young animals and dairy cows in production.

Hybrid millets can be used to provide creep grazing by planting small areas that are accessible from several pastures.

Creep gates in each pasture will allow calves to creep graze as brood cows are rotated. It will require about one acre for each 15 calves.

Browntop millet is palatable and can be used for grazing for hay but produces much less tonnage per acre.

Also, browntop produces an abundance of seed and can become a pest in a crop rotation program.

Fertilizer and Seeding Rates: Summer temporary grazing crops will produce poorly where the soil pH is below 5.6, so lime should be the first fertilizer practice if soil is acid.

In absence of a soil test, apply approximately 50 pounds of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash per acre (40-10-10-10) per acre at planting and topdress with 50-70 pounds nitrogen after the crop is grazed down, depending on the grazing desired.

Where hay or green chop is harvested from millet or sorghum-sudan hybrids, the potash should be doubled. Each ton of dry matter harvested will remove nearly 30 pounds of actual potash.

Plant 25 pounds of seed broadcast for grazing or 35 pounds broadcast for hay per acre. Fifteen pounds of seed per acre is satisfactory if planted in 14 inch rows. To seed 14 inch rows, close every other hole in a standard grain drill.

Grazing Management: The sorghum-sudan hybrids should not be grazed until plants are at least 20 inches tall. It is best to let millet get about 18 inches growth before grazing, but it can be grazed anytime it is needed with no problems. Graze planting until second is ready. First planting can then be clipped to 8-inch high stubble and topdressed with nitrogen. Grazing or clipping too close can severely reduce amount of regrowth. Never allow these crops, especially sorghum-sudan hybrids, to produce seedheads as quality of the forage is greatly reduced as it matures.

Dairy cattle can be grazed 2 hours in the morning and 2 hours in the afternoon. If cows are allowed overnight grazing, planted acreage must be increased. Steers or replacement heifers can be grazed one-half day and then moved to permanent pasture if they are being grown out. Steers being finished will need full-time grazing along with a grain supplement.

It takes one-third to one-half additional acres of grazing when cattle are left on pastures full time. Rotational grazing will increase forage produced as it does on all pastures. Where these crops are being harvested for hay, they should be cut in the early boot stage of growth.

Summer temporary pastures are expensive to produce, so a good job of seedbed preparation, seeding, fertilization and grazing management are necessary. To justify the cost of growing these crops, usually the class of livestock grazed must be producing income or being grazed to increase the value of these animals.

THE UNDERSEA WORLD OF JACQUES COUSTEAU - The Emmy Award-winning "The Undersea World of Jacques Cousteau" will be broadcast on the Mississippi ETV Network beginning with a special on sharks at 6 p.m. Saturday, May 12. Captain Jacques Yves Cousteau works on a nautical chart in connection with his latest project. (METV photo)

May weather outlook wetter than usual

Mississippi's May weather will be wetter than usual, and temperatures will be near normal, according to the National Weather Service Outlook distributed by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

A warm, dry spell at the beginning of May will surrender to wet and cool weather by the second week. Soil temperatures will fluctuate widely for the first 10 days of May, but should remain favorable for germination.

Mid-May will see a return to good growing weather; weed control measures may have to be increased by then.

Floodwaters are receding slowly from central and south Mississippi soybean fields.

A wet May will keep many lowland soybean fields unworkable into June.

A few Delta rice growers may consider switching to an early maturing variety because of the wet weather.

South Mississippi cattlemen will begin cutting excess ryegrass for hay. Cattlemen should check the five-day outlook before mowing hay. Frequent rainy spells will cause spoilage and nutrition loss to hay left on the ground, warn the weather experts.

Poultry growers should get summer ventilating equipment in good working condition. Although afternoon temperatures will average in the mid-and upper-80s in May, low - to mid-90s may occur in late May. Heat stress could be a problem.

First Spring Football Jamboree pits county teams in Tiger Stadium

By RICH ADAMS
Football powers of the three high school teams in Hancock County will clash Wednesday, May 16 at Tiger Stadium in the first annual Spring Football Jamboree, according to Bay High Athletic Director Wilmer Seymour.

Bay High, St. Stanislaus, and Hancock North Central gridiron forces will meet at the stadium for what will become a tradition in Hancock County, Seymour said Tuesday.

The schools recently gained authorization from state athletic officials to compete in a spring match, this sort of activity being previously banned by those officials.

Seymour said the three schools signed a three-year contract to meet once a year in the event, and Bay High won a toss of the coin to host this year's event.

The contest will actually be one-and-one-half football games, with a 24-minute half composing a game.

The opener will pit the Tigers against the Hawks, the second game matches the Hawks with the Rock-A-Chaws, and the final clash will be between Bay High and HNC, Seymour said.

"This is the first time in the history of the three schools that this type of activity has been allowed," Seymour said.

"We signed a three-year contract and will have a jamboree at each school during the next three years," he added.

Bay High and St. Stanislaus recently acquired new head coaches and will offer a preview of the coming season.

James "Snuffy" Smith, replacing resigned Billy Rhodes as head coach at Bay High, faces tough opposition and will attempt to better the losing ways of the Tigers' past season.

Bay High ended the season last year with a 1-9 season. Shortly after being named head coach of the Bay squad, Smith said he would try to generate enthusiasm for the school's football program and try to unify fans and players.

According to Smith, Chuck Benigno, Hewitt Parsons, and Brett Barrett are the only returning starters for the Tigers in the 1979-1980 season.

The former junior high school coach said he hopes to have about 13 players returning to the squad from last season, only four of those with playing experience. SSC's new skipper, Barry Jones, will be coming from Harrison Central where he coached that football squad.

Jones was named Jan. 21 to replace Bill Poole who resigned as Rock head coach.

Jones was head coach for the Rocks in 1975, at which time he led that squad to the 'county championship' by defeating the Hawks and Tigers.

The 1975 nine were also ranked 13 statewide at mid-season.

The Rock-A-Chaws finished the season last year with a 6-4 season, tied for third with Vancleave in the Pascagoula River Conference.

HNC Head Coach Irvin Favre returns for another year as leader of the powerful Hawks after taking that squad to an undefeated season in 1977.

In 1978, the HNC winning streak of 19 regular season games was shattered by Notre Dame.

The Hawks went on in post-season play to the Wendell Ladner Bowl, but were edged by a powerful Rosedale team, 28-21.

The HNC team finished the regular season with a 9-3 tally. Favre loses star runningback Greg Ladner this year, the loss leaving a gap in the Hawk ground strategy. Ladner was named to the Burger King All-Star squad last year along with All-State teammate Richard Storey.

Tickets for the gala Spring Jamboree will be $1.50 at the gate with advance student tickets selling for $1 at all three schools.

Seymour urges all supporters to turn out for the first Spring football clash in the history of the schools.

THE FAMILY THAT FISHES TOGETHER—Guy Roch and his family recently caught these fish, a gar in the above photo and a drum in the photo below, on two successive days. The gar weighed some 75-100 pounds and was hooked at nighttime in Clermont Harbor. Roch said the large fish required 30 minutes to land. Proudly displaying the gar are, from left, Mike Roch, 10, Carrie Roch, 12, and Guy Roch. Seen with the drum fish are Mr. and Mrs. Roch and their daughter Carrie. (Staff photos—Edgar Perez)

Southwestern signs Dedeaux

By RICH ADAMS
Hancock North Central basketball standout, Alan Dedeaux, a 6-1 senior who was the team's leading scorer this year, has signed a grant-in-aid scholarship with Southwestern University in Lafayette, La.

The HNC cager scored a career total of 2,081 points, an average of 14.9 points each game, and has been awarded basketball honors from elementary school on through the present.

"Dedeaux has received many honors since he was a nine year old," HNC Head Basketball Coach Roland Ladner said.

"He improved in junior high, senior high, and has received honors from the Amateur Athlete's Union," Ladner continued.

"Alan has been a very dedicated player and has learned to play well under pressure," the coach added.

"He is an excellent ball handler and a good percentage shooter who has proven himself under the real pressure situations," Ladner said.

Dedeaux scored 188 points his freshman year, averaging 5.9 per game.

He nabbed 45 rebounds, made 40 steals, and averaged 1.62 assists that year.

In his sophomore year he increased his scoring average to 15 points each game, putting 511 points through the hoop.

He managed 100 rebounds,

76 steals, and 125 assists in 1976-1977.

He recorded a 79.1 per centage from the charity line and a 50 percent average on field goals.

In his junior year, Dedeaux excelled to 564 points that season, averaging out to 18.6 points each game.

He recovered 148 balls from the boards, stole the ball 68 times, and offered 120 assists.

He increased his field goal percentage to 55.4 and his free throw average was 72.3.

This year Dedeaux had his best season yet, scoring a tremendous 788 points at an average of 20.2 per contest.

He led the Hawks in scoring for the year.

He averaged 5.2 rebounds per game, totalling 200 from the boards.

He recorded a career high 88 steals and 163 assists, often teaming up with teammate Dean Shaw, another recent signee with Mississippi College, for spectacular shots.

Dedeaux averaged 54.8 in shooting and had a charity line average of 80 percent.

He has an overall career total scoring of 2,081 points, 493 rebounds, 272 steals, and 460 assists.

"Alan is a very good pressure player, proving himself in such situations as HNC has always played a very tough schedule against mainly the better teams in top classifications in Mississippi, Louisiana, and Florida," Coach Ladner said.

Southern pine beetles can kill ornamentals

Whether you are a homeowner with a few trees in your yard or a forest landowner with thousands of acres of pine timberland, there's a new USDA publication out that might prove helpful.

It's entitled: "Southern Pine Beetles Can Kill Your Ornamental Pine" - Home and Garden Publication No. 228.

The 15-page booklet contains an easy-to-read text and more than 12 color photographs and drawings that will enable you to quickly identify and deal with this tiny, but highly destructive beetle.

Southern pine beetles have been active in Mississippi in epidemic proportions in recent years. Foresters report, however, that their numbers have been reduced considerably in recent months due to an effective control program, salvage harvests and natural predators.

Single copies of Home and Garden Bulletin No. 228 are available free from the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

If your local area forester's office doesn't have a supply on hand yet, you can obtain one by request to State Forester Jack Holman, 908 Robert E. Lee Building, Jackson, 39201.

Vacation travel season is here. Remember to use long distance to help plan those trips and to keep in touch after you leave home:

-If you're flying, call early to make airline reservations. Flights get booked up quickly during the summer vacation months; so call in advance.

-If you're driving, make your hotel or motel reservations in advance, especially if you're going to a resort area where rooms get booked up early.

-Check the telephone directory for a toll-free "800" reservation number before you call long distance to make travel or lodging reservations.

-Use long distance to check with your family and friends either at home or at your destination. Long distance - it's the easy, fast, inexpensive way to guarantee someone's peace of mind!

Once a year, Mother makes a special kind of jam - a Mother's Day telephone traffic jam. With so many of us wanting to talk to Mother on her day, the long distance traffic jam can get pretty sticky. So here's a special hint on how to keep your call from getting stuck in traffic. Call early - on Saturday.

If you dial your long distance Mother's Day call yourself, the One-Plus* way, on Saturday, you'll avoid the traffic and get your call through faster. Plus, you'll get the One-Plus Weekend 60% Discount all day long! (It's in effect only until 5 p.m. on Sunday.)

So, do yourself a favor and make your Mother's Day calls early.

VA Chief urges tribute to Vietnam veterans

Veterans Administration chief Max Cleland has urged the nation's editors to take a leading role in paying tribute to the nation's Vietnam veterans — "a special group of American patriots" who have all too often been slighted or ignored by their fellow citizens.

Speaking to members of the National Newspaper Association at their Hyatt Regency Hotel annual meeting, Cleland said "Vietnam Veterans Week," from May 28 to June 3, "will be a one-time opportunity for the people of the United States to put aside their convictions about the war itself and pay tribute to the people who were called upon to fight it."

He told the editors that "the veterans of the Vietnam war never had a ticker-tape parade. They were not often considered heroes. In fact, by many they were considered co-conspirators. In some terrible escapees with sinister undertones."

"No wonder today they are silent veterans, usually neither visible nor willing to openly discuss the war. No wonder so many of them feel confused or even guilty."

But he said the special week, authorized by Congress and proclaimed by President Carter, represents "a chance to balance the scales for nine million veterans who are due our respect — who often wonder if they are second-class veterans." Cleland, a triple amputee who recovered from multiple hand grenade wounds in Vietnam to become the first veteran of that conflict to head the VA, said Vietnam veterans have been denied, because of a lack of recognition and respect, the deep satisfaction of having done a great service for their country.

"These veterans served their country with full measure of valor during the Vietnam war. They served with bravery fully equal to that of Americans who served in other wars."

"Yet, they are a different group of veterans — one beset by some lingering problems, and by an uncertainty that their service was just. You just don't hear much about them unless it's negative."

Cleland told the editors that many Vietnam Era veterans suffer psychological scars that are different from those experienced in other wars — a difference he and many medical authorities believe was caused by the unusual nature of the war and the fact that it was unpopular among many Americans at home.

Despite the expanded medical and counseling assistance VA seeks to provide for Vietnam veterans, Cleland said "there is one problem which government alone simply cannot address: the issue of what Vietnam 'did' to America, and more importantly, what it did to our fellow citizens who served during that era."

"We, as a nation have a moral debt to pay," he reminded the editors, "and you can certainly help. In fact, without the help of the media we will not be able to pay it."

VA budget requests hike Viet vet benefits

Expanded Veterans Administration programs for mental health, education and job-related training opportunities for Vietnam Era veterans and a cost-of-living increase in compensation payments for disabled veterans were highlighted by VA chief Max Cleland in recent testimony on his budget request to Congress.

Cleland said VA's 20.2 billion appropriation request for fiscal year 1980 recognizes our obligation to help control the cost of government while enabling the agency "to continue our activities in behalf of veterans and high dependents at a their level."

Cleland, appearing before a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee, chaired by Senator William Proxmire (D-Wis.) sought authority for: establishment of a program of psychological counseling and readjustment services for Vietnam Era veterans; extending the period of training eligibility from 10 to 12 years for Vietnam Era veterans who have not received high school diplomas of who require on-the-job training to find employment; VA contracts with community halfway houses and other programs for a pilot drug and alcohol abuse treatment effort; a 7.8 percent cost-of-living increase in compensation payment, effective in October.

In seeking broader authority for services to Vietnam veterans, Cleland continued to express his concern over the difficulties he believes have been experienced by up to a fifth of the servicemen and women returning to civilian life from Vietnam Era military service.

His emphasis on the counseling program and on authority for VA to contract with community halfway houses, and on other programs for the treatment of drug and alcohol problems, highlights a personal commitment to deal with what he believes are major health problems being experienced by today's veterans.
